COVER

This brochure is dedicated to the 1961-62 Centenary team pictured on the cover. That team came from an underdog position to sweep the Gulf South Classic championship last season. This season's squad will be defending that championship trophy.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The Athletic Department of Centenary College wishes to express its deep appreciation to Mr. Douglas Attaway of the Journal Publishing Company and Mr. Gordon May of the Journal Printing Company for the generous contribution of their firms in making possible the production of this annual brochure.

THE PRESIDENT

Dr. Joe J. Mickle

Dr. Joe J. Mickle is a graduate of Southern Methodist University, obtaining his Master's Degree from Columbia University. He has been prominent in national and international educational work for 36 years. From 1921 until 1941, he lived in Japan where he was a professor in Kobe, Japan. Under Dr. Mickle's leadership over the past 17 years, Centenary has more than tripled in enrollment and the endowment of the college has been increased more than six fold.

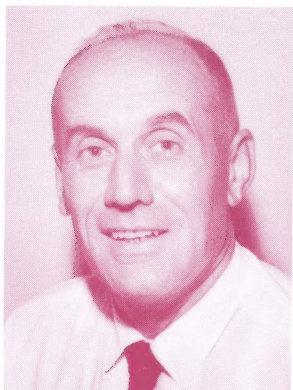

WELCOME

We at Centenary wish to extend a typical Shreveport welcome, both to the visiting basketball squads and to the Gentlemen of the press, radio and television who will be visiting Hirsch Memorial Youth Center this season.

We are proud not only of our Coach Sigler and his charges, but of the first-class playing facilities at the arena, which as much as any single factor have contributed to Centenary's rapid rise in basketball.

We sincerely hope that you will enjoy your stay among us, win or lose, and that you will join the legion of Shreveport visitors who look forward to returning.

THE COACH

Orvis Sigler

Centenary College's basketball fortunes came to the threshold of national recognition during the 1961-1962 season and a major share of the credit must go to the man who now is entering his fifth season as coach of the Gentlemen — Orvis Sigler.

Few coaches have developed such a strong basketball program in such a short time as has Sigler at the Shreveport school. When he came to the college just four short years ago to take charge of Centenary's bid for national respect, he was moving into an area where he was a complete stranger but now he is one of the most honored and respected coaches in this great Southern and Southwestern area.

Sigler joined the Centenary faculty as head basketball coach and athletic director from the United States Military Academy at West Point and immediately began building the Gents into a major college contender in the tough National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) university division.

Last season Sigler and Centenary took their biggest steps toward that goal and the time-table was a year or two ahead of schedule. During that past campaign the Gents posted a 17-9 season record, won the Gulf South Classic and just missed an NCAA Tournament bid by a cat's whisker. All this with a team paced by sophomores and juniors.

This was the payoff for Sigler and now he and the Gents are ready for anything that comes along.

At Centenary during the past four seasons Sigler has worked with talent that has been hard-pressed to impress anyone and playing schedules that would cause some of the major powers to shudder, but he has always been able to give a good account of himself.

His success in recruiting and getting the so-called "big schools" on the Centenary schedule year after year are fitting tributes to his reputation in his chosen profession. When he came to Centenary only three major colleges were on the Gents' schedule while today well over 60 per cent of the slate is played against major college opposition, placing Centenary in the university division of the NCAA and making them one of the five major independents in the South.

Before coming to Centenary, Sigler held coaching positions at Southwest Missouri State, Missouri Valley College and West Point. He served as a Navy dive-bomber pilot in World War II in the South Pacific. As he enters his 10th year of coaching his record reads 110 wins and 103 losses. Four of those seasons were spent at West Point where height restrictions hamper basketball success.

THE ASS'T. COACH

Doug Mooty

The fact that Centenary comes up with some talented sophomore basketball stars each season is no accident. The man who is responsible for this is Centenary Assistant Coach Doug Mooty whose job it is to introduce the freshmen cage stars to the Centenary system each season.

Mooty, who starred as a Gent himself several seasons ago, has been coaching the Gentlets ever since Sigler came to Centenary back in 1958. Before then he served as assistant under his brother in 1957 after compiling a 59-39 record as a high school coach in nearby Belcher and North Caddo High Schools.

Doug as a player was never satisfied with anything short of perfection and believed in maintaining a competitive spirit at all times. These qualities have carried over into his coaching assignments and have paid off for the Gents.

A great deal of the success Centenary has enjoyed must go to this hard-working assistant.

In the spring Mooty also doubles as Centenary baseball coach.

THE STAFF

Bill Baker

SPORTS INFORMATION DIRECTOR: Bill Baker, a former Shreveport Times Sports Writer and now a teacher in the Caddo Parish School System, will serve his alma mater for the third straight year as Sports Information Director. Baker is a 1961 graduate of Centenary and served on the Shreveport Times sports staff for seven years before entering the teaching profession. He has also served as a Navy journalist in the Far East and is a past president of the Louisiana Sports Writers Association, serving that organization as president during 1960-61.

BUSINESS MANAGERS: School — Carl Wilkinson. Athletics — Joe Scholibo. These highly experienced gentlemen take a great deal of pressure off the tricky business of finance and ticket worries.

FACULTY ADVISOR: Dr. John Entrikin. A life-long friend of the Gents, head of the Centenary chemistry department and one of basketball's biggest boosters.

GOLF COACH: Morton Braswell. Alumnus who lends his time and talents to the department on a seasonal basis.

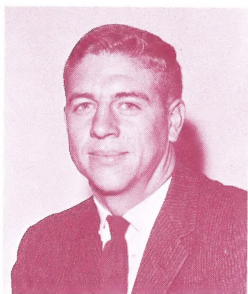

SECRETARY: Miss Barbara Zeidman. Brand new to the Centenary Athletic Department but already a fixture with her cheerfulness and cooperative spirit.

STUDENT MANAGER: Kyle Stephenson. A member of the freshman team last season who shifted his field of interest from the court to the training table.

THE SENIORS

DONALD CURTIS ENSLEY Letterman

Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 185—Age 21

Here's the "quarterback" of the Centenary basketball squad "Dusty" has already turned in three tremendous seasons as a member of the Centenary freshman and varsity squads and is looking forward to his greatest season as a senior . . . Last season Ensley played in every Gent game and was considered a starter all season . . . He hit for 8.5 points per game in 26 outings and for many weeks was among the nation's leaders in field goal percentage . . . He finished with 49 per cent of his floor shoots good . . . He is considered a top defensive performer and has a tremendous competitive spirit . . . His colorful style of play has made him a crowd favorite both at home and on the road . . . He was born in Davenport, Okla., but now makes his home in Joplin, Mo., where he played high school ball . . . He is a physical education major.

RALPH RICHARD FERRARI Squadman

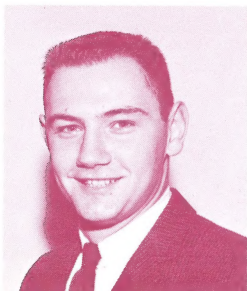

Ht. 6'7"—Wt. 210—Age 27

"Yogi," in his senior year, is still the "old-timer" of the Centenary varsity at 27 but a very serious student both on the court and in the classroom . . . His experience should prove very valuable to the Gents this season, not to mention his rugged build and six-seven height . . . His home is Freeland, Pa., where he starred on the high school team and came to Centenary as a freshman after a service hitch . . . Ralph is expected to see considerable action this season under the boards . . . He is a biology and chemistry major.

JOHN ADAM LUKASIK Letterman

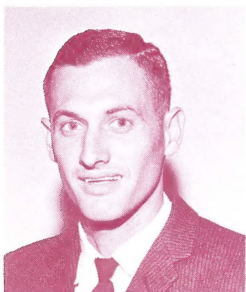

Ht. 6'3"—Wt. 178—Age 21

"Luke" has the nack of coming into a tight ball game in a crucial spot and pulling off the play that gets the Gents rolling . . . He did this on several occasions last season and as a result played in 20 of Centenary's 26 games, turning in an inspired performance each time . . . This season the Irvington, N. J., youngster should see just as much action and is a prime candidate for a starting guard position. . . . His biggest asset is his fine ball-handling ability and good shooting eye . . . He is a math education major.

WILLARD WRAY MOORE Letterman

Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 170—Age 24

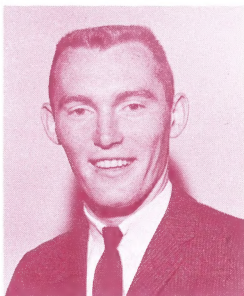

"Soup", as he is called by his friends, may well team with Don Ensley this season to give Centenary the finest pair of guards in the South and Southwest . . . He is a natural leader, a fine shot from the floor and a good defensive performer . . . Now in his senior year Moore expects to have his finest season as a Gent . . . He hails from Hornbeak, Tenn., where he played high school ball and is a physical education major at Centenary . . . Coach Sigler expects a great deal of Moore this season.

ROBERT RILEY WALLACE Letterman

Ht. 6'5"—Wt. 181—Age 21

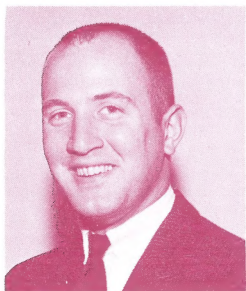

"Red" Riley should be one of the area's finest performers this season . . . Last season he was Centenary's fourth leading scorer with a 9.5 average in all 26 games but his primary area of importance was on the boards where he pulled off 222 rebounds for an 8.5 average, tops on the squad . . . He also set the single game record last season with 17 against Hardin-Simmons . . . His 6-5 frame and tough, competitive spirit has already given Centenary three outstanding seasons as both a frosh and varsity star and 1962-63 looms as his finest . . . His home is Jerseyville, Ill., and he is a physical education and speech major.

THE JUNIORS

ROBERT VAN BARKER Returnee

Ht. 6'5"—Wt. 200—Age 23

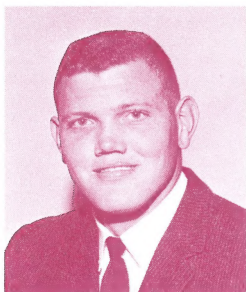

When Robert Van Barker notified Coach Sigler that his service time was at an end and that he would be available for duty with the Gents this winter it made the Gent mentor one very happy man . . . This decision could come in the class of a miracle for Sigler was in great need of a good, strong, big man who could battle on the boards and who would be available for varsity duty . . . When a junior college transfer couldn't be obtained, Barker's announcement was met with open arms . . . "Bob" or "Barks" is no stranger to Centenary . . . He transferred from Missouri several seasons ago as a sophomore and then went into the service . . . Now he is out and ready to get back into action . . .

Barker has a good chance of winning a starting position . . . He hails from Ellisville, Mo., near St. Louis and is a business major. . . . He is eligible at mid-term.

ROBERT VARNAR LOCKWOOD Squadman

Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 195—Age 20

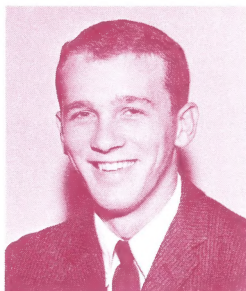

In this, his second year on the varsity, Lockwood is expected to add needed strength . . . He is built like a college tackle or major league catcher and is a very aggressive performer on the basketball court . . . He was an all-state basketball and baseball player in high school at Spearsville, La. . . . He is majoring in physical education.

STANLEY EVAN McAFOOS Letterman

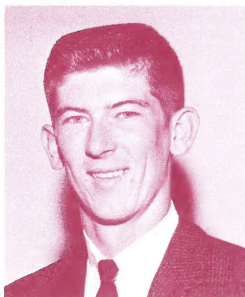

Ht. 6'—Wt. 160—Age 20

Little Mack had a fantastic year as a sophomore in 1961-62 . . . He paced the team in scoring with 17.1 points per game in all 26 outings and gave Centenary a guard who could consistently hit for the long ones as well as drive-in for the layups . . . Stan performed last year as a seasoned veteran keeping a cool head in the tight spots and coming through with poise at all times . . . With two more full years to perform as a Gent, he is expected to be one of the finest guards in Centenary history barring any unforeseen incidents . . . McAfoos hails from Alton, Ill., and is a physical education major.

CECIL LEE UPSHAW Letterman

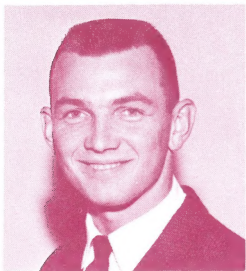

Ht. 6'6"—Wt. 184—Age 20

The "big man" in the middle for Centenary will again be one of those talented performers who as a sophomore earned and held a starting position last season . . . C. L. or "Stick", as he is known in Haynes Gym, was second to McAfoos in scoring last season with a 13.6 average and second to Wallace in rebounding with 6.2 . . . This season C. L. hopes to be first in those departments and is working hard to improve his defensive game . . . A year's experience knocking around under the basket with the big boys is also expected to improve Cecil's play . . . He played his high school ball at Bossier City, La., where he was an all-state star in basketball and baseball . . . He is majoring in business.

JAMES PAUL WILLIAMS Letterman

Ht. 6'2"—Wt. 175—Age 20

Jimmy is a lad who came through in a spectacular fashion last season much to the pleasure of Coach Sigler . . . He was the team's third leading scorer with 12.2 points per game and led in field goal percentage with an even 50 per cent . . . He also scored the most points in a single game with 34 against the University of Mississippi Southern . . . Jimmy formed the third point on Sigler's sophomore triangle last season and the same, if not better, job is expected this season . . . His ability to make the almost impossible shots from any position around the basket makes him a dangerous offensive threat and his defense is improving steadily . . . Jimmy is a hard worker both on and off the court and has a desire to excel . . . He is a Shreveport product of Byrd High School and is majoring in pre-med.

THE SOPHOMORES

JERRY ALF BUTCHER Springfield, Mo.

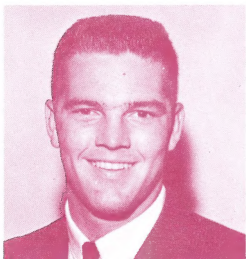

Ht. 6'—Wt. 170—Age 24

Butch came to Centenary highly recommended and his freshman year was no disappointment . . . He paced the frosh in scoring last season and performed well enough to cause some of the veteran guards to be concerned this season . . . Just one little slip and Mr. Butcher might be in that starting lineup . . . His savvy and ability should make him a valuable asset and he might very well come through as the sophs of last season did if he gets the opportunity . . . He is a business major.

GAIL RICHARD GISY Grafton, Ill.

Ht. 6'5"—Wt. 205—Age 19

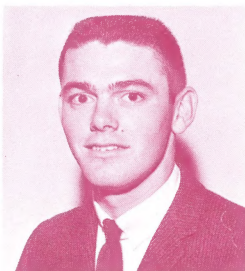

This big product of Jersey Community High School in Grafton, Ill., has all the makings of a rough and tough board man . . . He has the strength and if channeled in the proper fashion might just be hard to handle on the court . . . He was a four-sport letterman in high school and an all-state star in basketball and football . . . He is a commerce major.

CARROLL O'CONNER HORN Minden, La.

Ht. 6'3"—Wt. 182—Age 19

Buck should be a valuable hand to have around in his sophomore season . . . He is the type of player that never gives up and will give you 100 per cent effort at all times . . . He hails from near-by Minden where he was an all-state basketball star . . . Horn, along with Butcher and Gisy, should give the Gents three top sophs . . . He is a business major.

THE OUTLOOK

This is the hardest section of the 1962-63 Centenary brochure to put on paper. Last season the Gents started out with what looked to be a break-even season at best and developed into a contender for national honors. They did it with a crew of sophomores and juniors leading the way. That means that on paper these same Gents should be at least as good as a year ago and probably should be better through added experience. But a back-breaking schedule that shows seven one-shot games on enemy courts may mean the difference.

Experience: Seven lettermen return to the Centenary camp this season including all five starters of last season. Back for another shot are Stan McAfoos, Cecil Upshaw, Jimmy Williams, Riley Wallace and Don Ensley (the starters) and Willard Moore and John Lukasik. McAfoos, Upshaw and Williams paced the Gent scoring as sophomores and should be improved with the year's experience. The other four lettermen are seniors. Back to bolster the Gent strength is Bob Barker, a returning serviceman who originally transferred to Centenary from Missouri. He is expected to adequately fill the shoes of the departed Dale Van Bibber.

Sophomores: Only three sophomores are listed on the 13-man varsity roster this season and, of course, aren't expected to cause the stir last year's sophs caused. Nevertheless young Jerry Butcher just might be in that starting lineup before the season is too old and Gail Gisy and Buck Horn should make their presence felt.

Height: This year's team is about as tall as last season despite the loss of Van Bibber and 6-9 Harry Wuennenberg. It should be adequate if not sensational.

Speed: The addition of the swift Butcher should give the Gents added speed this season. All the regulars on the varsity and most of the reserves move the ball well on the court.

Rebounding: This department should be slightly improved but certainly as good as a year ago. Wallace, the team's top board ace, is back as a senior and Upshaw has a year's more experience. Barker, too, is expected to boost this department.

Defense: This is still the only "weak" point although it too should be improved over a year ago. The Gents are working hard on this phase of the game. Defense has always been an important part of the Sigler system.

Offense: Again a strong point thanks to the return of the top six Gent scorers. Add Barker and Butcher and you have a team that should be able to run and shoot with the best of 'em in '62-63.

Schedule: This is a typical tough Centenary schedule and coach Orvis Sigler wouldn't have it any other way. Twelve tough road games face the Gents including seven on the road that Centenary won't get a shot at at home — Texas A & M, TCU, Rice, Tennessee Tech, Jacksonville, Florida State and Loyola of the South. Add traditional toughies such as Memphis State, Louisiana Tech, Oklahoma City, Northwestern State and the University of Southern Mississippi and it's plain to see that if the Gents succeed this season they will have to have good road trips.
